General Information:

This show is sanctioned by the American Rabbit Breeders Association (A.R.B.A.) and will be governed by the latest revised show rules.

Exhibitors not complying with rules set forth by the Clinton County Senior Fairboard will not be permitted to show at future Clinton County Fair Shows.

Stock will not be accepted before designated times and exhibitors should have their stock in place by the designated times. Please see the Show Secretary before putting stock in spaces.

All stock must remain in assigned spaces during designated times unless special arrangements are made with the Show Secretary at the time the stock is placed in spaces.

All stock must be checked in and checked out by the Show Superintendent. All stock must be permanently and legibly ear marked before arrival at the show.

Each rabbit must be the bonafide property of the exhibitor.

No substitutions are allowed except in the same breed, sex, color, and class.

Absolutely no breeding of stock on the fairgrounds.

Senior judging will be performed by an A.R.B.A. judge or judges.

No breeds sanctioned the following year unless 10 or more are shown the previous year.

No feed furnished. All local exhibitors are asked to feed and care for their own stock. Out of town exhibitors are to make arrangements for feeding stock with the Show Secretary and Show Superintendent at the time the rabbits are caged. All cages must be cleaned under the prior to removal of animals. Premiums will be held until cleaned.

The Senior Fair Rabbit Committee reserves the right to refuse any entry that is not deemed for the best interest of the show.

Do not forget the National A.R.B.A. Convention & Show, October 5, 2023 thru October 11, 2023 in Louisville, KY.

The Clinton County Agricultural Society and committees are not responsible for loss or damage of stock; however, precaution will be taken to eliminate damages and mistakes in the showroom. A competent watchman will be provided day and night.

Youth Division Guidelines

Any youth under the age of 18 may compete.

Youth exhibitors may enter sanctioned youth shows between the ages of five (5) and eighteen (18) years

Youth exhibitor must be able to handle their own animal.

The youth division is governed by the same rules as the senior division, as set by the A.R.B.A.

Each youth is responsible for putting their own stock on the show table.

Any rule violation will result in elimination of the animal from the competition.
